

A nighttime photograph of a city canal scene. In the center, a large, multi-story brick building with a mansard roof and dormer windows is illuminated from below. A smaller brick building is attached to its front. The canal in the foreground reflects the lights from the buildings and the sky. Two small, arched metal bridges span the canal on either side of the central building. In the background, modern buildings and construction cranes are visible against a twilight sky.

2014

WEBAC® zatrzymuje wodę